SENATE RE-ENACTS SPANISH WAR SCENE

FIERY DEBATE BREAKS OUT IN SENATE OVER THE GORE RESOLUTION

DO AMERICANS IN TRENCHES RETAIN THEIR CITIZENSHIP?

Status of U. S. Subjects Who Are Serving in European Armies Is Puzzle

BY FREDERICK J. HASKIN
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 27.—Few people realize how many native-born American citizens are fighting in the European armies. Re-lease estimates place their number at about ten thousand. These ten thousand men are giving rise to all sorts of legal and diplomatic complications.

The question of their status in the United States, if they get through the war alive and return home, is becoming a good many of them. The state department is getting a stream of inquiries, wanting to know if an American who enlists in a foreign army loses his citizenship, or if such an enlistment is a breach of his duty as a citizen. To which the department replies that it all depends.

Our laws set forth that any American citizen who takes an oath of allegiance to a foreign state has expatriated himself. Some of the European armies require an oath of allegiance from the recruit, while others do not. Any American who has taken such an oath is no longer an American citizen. The question of his restoration to citizenship should be desired, it will probably have to be settled in American courts.

As to the duties of American citizenship, the state department says in its opinion that it does not undertake to prescribe the duty of an individual with regard to his citizenship, but it is nevertheless of the opinion that American neutrality requires American citizens to keep out of the actual fighting. That is just the way a number of the fighting Americans feel about it.

Italy Takes Citizens
They belong to the class of naturalized citizens who were traveling in their native countries when the war broke out. The home government promptly stripped them up, presented them with new uniforms, rifles and trench coats, and shipped them off to the front. Most of the complaints along this line are coming from Italy. Italian law holds that naturalization of an Italian subject in a foreign country without consent of the Italian government does not make him less liable to military service. The United States has no treaty with Italy defining the status of former Italian subjects, who have become American citizens. This is a former Italian subject who visits Italy is liable to arrest and enforced military service if he is between sixteen and thirty-two years old. A good many of the Americans on the Austro-Italian front belong to this class.

The French government is not very willing to give up its claim on men of military age. To get a release from liability to serve, a special permit has to be secured from the minister of justice by the ex-Frenchman who has naturalized himself in another land. Besides the trouble involved, such a permit costs about $125.

Very few Frenchmen who became American citizens took the trouble to arrange the formalities involved in removing their names from the list of men available for active service. Hence a good many of them are now up to their knees in mud, shooting at Germans along the line that runs from Switzerland to the sea.

Where such service on their part is unavailing rendered, the state department is doing its best to get them out, but each individual case means an immense amount of correspondence and labor. There is no means by which Washington can compel the release of a naturalized citizen from his home land when there is no naturalization treaty between the two nations.

The British army has been getting its share of Americans, chiefly in the Canadian contingent. Numerous youths from the border states have enlisted, many of them under the age of legal majority. The American government has succeeded in arranging for conditions of release for such recruits. Although enlisted voluntarily, some of them found that war is a bigger contract than they had bargained for, and the parents of others came forward with various and vehement objections. The British government

The Administration Leaders Think Effect of Party Fight Will Be Seen in the Primaries

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The white house this afternoon prepared to issue a statement denying that the president had intimated to Senator Stone or other senators that he did not look with disfavor on the idea of war with Germany.

Just What Gore and Stone Said

Gore—"Certain senators and certain members of the house received from the president the information, if not the declaration, that if Germany insisted upon her position the United States would insist upon her position, that it probably would result in a break of diplomatic relations and a state of war, and that a state of war might not be of itself and of necessity an evil to this republic, but that the United States by entering upon war now might be able to bring it to a conclusion by mid-summer, and thus render a great service to civilization."

Stone—"In all fairness to the president and to the facts in the case, so far as they are within my knowledge, the president never stated to me or in my hearing that he believed in any way or entertained the thought that war between the United States and the central powers would be desirable or would result in good to the United States."

Gore—"I am convinced that the president suggested to the senator that the United States might bring the war to a close by the middle of the summer."

Stone—"The president made no such statement as quoted by the senator. Whatever the president said to me is something I do not care to repeat; what he says to me is sacred. I have not repeated conversations with the president."

WASHINGTON, March 2.—No action was taken by the senate on the armed merchantmen issue after debate lasting one hour and forty minutes.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The storm over the president's demand for a show down in the matter of his negotiations with Germany broke in the senate this afternoon.

The senate responded to the president's demand for consideration of the Gore warning resolution with nearly two hours of tempestuous debate. At an early morning session tomorrow the final vote may be taken.

Floods of pent up oratory were loosed in the senate. Senators Stone, Lodge and Williams demanded that the president be given the vote he asked. Possibility of hostilities with Germany were openly discussed.

Senator Stone, answering a statement by Senator Gore, denied the president had ever intimated that war with the Teutonic allies would be desirable.

Senator Williams charged opposing democrats with "nagging and defying the president." Senator Lodge called upon the senate to show the country that congress stands behind the president and not behind Germany.

While the senate was breaking into stormy debate, the house remained obdurate against considering the McLemore resolution as desired by the

EVERY PERSON IS TO GET PERSONAL BID FROM CHURCH

Women of Thirteen Churches Plan House to House Canvass of Every Ward in City

WILL URGE CHURCH ATTENDANCE

Visitors Will Invite All to Go to Any Church; No Denominational Strings to Bids

Every person in La Crosse is to receive a personal invitation to go to church every Sunday. Women workers will visit every residence and business place in the city before Saturday night, and extend the welcome of the churches.

Women representing thirteen churches met yesterday morning with Mrs. C. C. Rowlinson, wife of the Congregationalist pastor, and decided to make the house-to-house canvass. The thirteen women of the committee, after the conference, announced the selection of twenty-one superintendents of visitation. One will have charge of the work in each ward. She will invite helpers to assist her in making calls, and every house will be visited.

The invitation to go to church will have no denominational string attached. It will just be a suggestion to go to any church, members of the committee said today.

The Ward Committee

The superintendents of visitation for the respective wards are: First, Mrs. Albert Acker. Second, Miss Lilly Shimmis. Third, Miss Zelma Baumann. Fourth, Mrs. A. C. Millington. Fifth, Mrs. F. Green. Sixth, Miss Helen Dyson. Seventh, Mrs. J. E. Keizer. Eighth, Mrs. A. C. Gran. Ninth, Mrs. James G. Peterson. Tenth, Mrs. C. L. Larson. Eleventh, Mrs. Edward Cronon. Twelfth, D. C. Dewey. Thirteenth, Mrs. E. C. Thompson. Fourteenth, Mrs. Charles Cone. Fifteenth, Mrs. Charles Blanchard. Sixteenth, Mrs. John Brindley. Seventeenth, Mrs. August Kaaz. Eighteenth, Mrs. John Salzer. Nineteenth, Mrs. A. B. Penwell. Twentieth, Mrs. W. S. Johnson. Twenty-first, Miss Helen May.

To Visit Every Factory
Every door will be knocked at by the visitors. Every factory will be visited, and everywhere cards with the "go-to-church-every-Sunday" reminder will be distributed.

Interest was being aroused today by the union meetings of the downtown churches which will be held on Sunday evening. One is to take place in the Congregational church. The other is to be held in the German Methodist edifice.

At the Congregational church an interesting lantern lecture on the Passion Play of Oberammergau will be presented by Rev. George R. Longbrake, pastor of St. Paul's Universalist church. The lecture will be illustrated by photographs taken at the last presentation of the play in 1910. An interesting feature of the pictures is the depiction of Anton Lang, the "Christ" of the players, who was killed in the war after playing his sacred role in 1900 and 1910.

CITIZENS OBJECT TO PAVING PLANS

Many Attend Committee Meeting at Which Bradish Suggestion Is Thashed Out by Council

Some objections to City Engineer George Bradish's plan for repaving some thirty miles of worn-out city pavement appeared at the meeting of the special street improvement committee at the city hall last night. More than fifty citizens appeared to listen to the proposal. Objections were entered only against the proposed resurfacing of State street and of West Avenue south. Fred Dittman, Miss Fannie Sill, T. H. Wolley and August Miller were the leaders of the opposition.

The council committee took no action on the plans. It is probable that another meeting will be called in the near future to decide on the committee's report to the council.

Berlin Communique Says Nothing of Rumored Capture of Fort South of Douaumont

BERLIN, via London, March 2.—The situation on the western front is unchanged, the war office announced today.

A counter-attack by the French upon Douaumont was declared to have been unsuccessful.

"In the Yser district," continued the official statement, "enemy's artillery has been very active."

"North of Verdun on the eastern bank of the Meuse, the French again sacrificed troops in useless counter-attacks against the fortress of Douaumont."

"In the northern part of the Russian front, artillery combats have been very lively at several places where German guns carried out successful enterprises against the enemy. Northwest of Mitau, a Russian aircraft was shot down in an air fight and the occupants made prisoners. German airmen successfully attacked the railroad at Molodetschno."

London Reports Lull

LONDON, March 2.—The lull on the Verdun front continued throughout last night, both the German and French war offices reported this afternoon. Dispatches from Paris, however, mentioned German bombardment of French positions as if in preparation for a new offensive.

The cannonade, Paris reported, may be the signal for the resumption of the Verdun offensive or may have been ordered to shield troops' movements to other sectors. French guns are replying to a vigorous attack near Fresnes, southeast of Verdun. Both

STOLEN DAUGHTER RECLAIMED FROM MOTHER BY COURT

Mrs. Nancy McCoey Forced to Give Up Four-year-old Girl She Spirited Away from Orphanage

EVICTED WHEN HOME IS RAZED

Destruction of Shack Forces Mother to Seek County Aid and Reveals Her to Sheriff

Mrs. Nancy Jane McCoey's baby girl, stolen by her mother from St. Michael's orphanage, has been found. Workmen tearing down the little shack where Mrs. McCoey has been hiding with her four-year-old daughter, forced her to ask aid from the county yesterday. That "tipped off" her whereabouts to Sheriff George Ritter, and he served a court order that has been in his hands for six months, requiring the return of the little girl to the orphanage. She went back to St. Michael's yesterday, after Mrs. McCoey had vainly wept and pleaded with Judge Brindley for her baby.

Mrs. McCoey has a court record that includes one term in Waupun for arson. She has been in the state insane asylum. Just at present she is complainant in a sensational divorce suit against her husband, in which she charges among other things that her spouse shot his father-in-law and drank fly poison in an attempt at suicide.

When she was released from Mendota last fall, she went straight to the orphanage to see her daughters, placed there by the court when their mother was sent away. The youngest she coaxed away and disappeared with. She escaped to Minnesota, where she lived somehow for a time beyond the reach of Wisconsin law. Last September she slipped back into La Crosse with her baby.

The only shelter she could find was a dilapidated room in the rear of an old saloon building, on Front and Vine streets. The building was recently purchased by the W. A. Roosevelt company which is building its new plant there.

Because the woman resided there, the company has not torn it down before, but yesterday it was decided that the building would have to go.

SIX SHIPS TO BOTTOM MARKS FIRST DAY OF NEW GERMAN CAMPAIGN

LONDON, March 2.—Six boats have been sent to the bottom on the first day of the new German order to torpedo armed merchantmen.

The Russian steamer, Alexander Wentzel, was sunk with a loss of eighteen lives, according to dispatches received here today. Eleven of the steamer's crew were rescued. It was stated, The dispatches reported only that the steamer was sunk yesterday and carried no hint as to whether she was the victim of the new German decree.

The Italian sailing vessel, Elisa, also has been sunk. Four Lowestoft fishing smacks, the Treviso, Tyron, Reliance and Harold, have been sunk within twenty-four hours. Their crews were landed.

The Alexander Wentzel displaced 2,838 tons and was 320 feet long. She was built in 1898 and was owned by the Northern Steamship company of Petrograd.

Though none of the London dispatches thus far have indicated that ships sunk have carried arms, the sinking of the five vessels mentioned in today's dispatches and the Thornaby, reported yesterday, indicated a sudden renewal of German U boat operations.

ONALASKA ALOOF LEAVES COMMITTEE TO ITS TROUBLES

"They're Up a Tree." Says Keppel, and Can Get Down the Best Way They Can Find

ONALASKA WON'T PAY SHARE

Have No Use for New Bridge County Has Contracted for and Propose to Keep Money

An additional complication centering about the French Island joint bridge, on the contract for which the county road committee tried in vain to be released recently, appeared today when Val S. Keppel, chairman of the Onalaska board, announced that Onalaska would have nothing to do with the bridge. The town has appropriated no money for its share of the bridge, Mr. Keppel said, and is not interested in the trouble of the road committee or the town of Campbell.

Onalaska Stands Aloof

The road committee today called the Campbell and Onalaska town boards into conference on the matter this afternoon, but Mr. Keppel said his board would not be represented at the meeting.

"They are up a tree," said Mr. Keppel. "They've signed a contract for that bridge and they've got to get out of it the best way they can. Onalaska has no use for the bridge. It's a useless expenditure. Why, if all the land served by that bridge were to be sold at its valuation on the county rolls, it wouldn't cover the cost of the span."

The contract on the bridge was let last Thursday to Charles Schaller. On Thursday afternoon the committee asked Schaller to release them, but he refused.

Appeal to Schlachach

District Attorney Otto M. Schlachach was asked to give an opinion concerning the matter at the April meeting of the county board of supervisors. He was later asked to speak today. The district attorney made known in a letter to Mr. Schaller that he believed the committee had no right to let the contract, and that it was working under a misapprehension.

Other county officials believe the letting of the contract was legal. An appropriation was made by the county board for the bridge in 1913, although the township share of the expenditure was charged to Campbell.

It was pointed out by county officials that perhaps Onalaska township's share for building the bridge can be secured from the $11,000 for which the township is bonded for bridge building.

MRS. NEKOLA IS CALLED TO REWARD

Follows Husband to Other Side Only a Month After His Death

Mrs. Josephine Nekola, 76, died at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning at her home, 1028 South Sixth street, after two months' illness with heart trouble. Mrs. Nekola was born in Bohemia in 1840, and has been a resident of La Crosse for many years. Her husband died one month ago. Mrs. Nekola was a member of St. Agnes society.

Mrs. Nekola is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Barbara Griggenbach, La Crosse, and four sons, Joseph of Mink, Montana; L. Nekola of Chicago; John and Henry of La Crosse. Funeral services will be held from the residence at 8:30 Friday and at 9 o'clock from St. Wenceslaus church. Rev. Father Henry Toeller of Altoona, Wis., will officiate. Burial will take place in the Catholic cemetery.

Leading Germans in Lisbon Move Into Spain When Reports of Break are Circulated

PORTUGAL TO STAND HER GROUND?

Reply Thought Framed at Executive Meet Thought Unsatisfactory to Demands

LONDON, March 2.—"Germany is prepared to declare war on Portugal immediately, in the event of an unsatisfactory reply to the note demanding the release of seized German ships," said a dispatch from Berlin today, transmitted through Amsterdam.

Germany, according to a dispatch from Madrid yesterday, has sent an ultimatum to Portugal, demanding the restoration within forty-eight hours of the German ships recently seized by that country.

Leading Germans Flee
From Lisbon came the word that sixty leading members of the German colony left hurriedly for Spain today on receipt of reports that Germany is about to declare war on Portugal. The majority of German business houses, dispatches said, have been closed.

The Portugal foreign office is reported to have dispatched an answer last night to the German note demanding the release of interned German warships seized by official decree. It is rumored that the Portuguese answer is very brief, but contains a flat refusal to comply with the German demands.

It is rumored the German minister will leave Lisbon this afternoon. No confirmation of this report was obtainable at the German embassy or the Portuguese foreign office, but it is generally believed there will be important developments within twenty-four hours.

The president, the Lisbon advices said, conferred until a late hour last night with his cabinet and also with other political leaders who were summoned to the foreign office. The reply to the German demands is said to have been framed at this conference and to have been telegraphed to Berlin before midnight.

Departure of Germans from Lisbon continued today. It is estimated that about 200 German business men have gone to Spain.

Forty-two Ships Seized

The first seizure of German merchant vessels occurred on February 23 at Lisbon, when the naval authorities took possession of thirty-six German and Austrian ships in the Tagus. On February 25 the seizure of eight German steamships by the Portuguese authorities at St. Vincent, Cape Verde islands, was announced.

There have been frequent rumors since the outbreak of hostilities that Portugal was about to declare a state of war with the central powers because of her treaty relations with Great Britain.

Portuguese consuls in Germany, Amsterdam reports said, have warned their countrymen to prepare to depart, the message said, declaring that the situation may become critical tonight. The Berlin newspapers declare that Germany cannot allow the incident to pass without disgracing Germany.

To Drill 300 Oil Wells

Fifty-two locations have been made during the past week, and actual work is under way at fourteen of them.

The Company desires soon to have the balance of forty drills in operation and keep them going until our production is over ten thousand barrels per day.

We have three refineries, over ten thousand acres of lands and leases in the real oil belt, and have the larger percentage of this big property connected by our own pipe line, now in operation for over 165 miles. We already have over 120 oil wells.

While our properties have increased in value about 10 times during the past year, we are still letting the stock go on a very low basis, because we want the cash to drive the drills on our proven properties forthwith—while oil is high and the demand increasing—which may mean $3.00 crude by early summer. An oil company can be managed just as honestly as a bank or any other business institution. We need new capital to drill these new wells and to acquire new properties to be fortified for the future.

There is about one-sixth of the stock unissued. This stock is allotted among the present stockholders on a conditional stock dividend basis—on hundreds of the stockholders are continually paying in new capital. The Company reserves the right to approve or reject any subscriptions to, or transfer of its stock.

The Company is now owned by over seventeen thousand stockholders, representing every congressional district, who would not consider a sale of our combined properties, including established trade and good will, at less than $20,000,000.00 or nearly eight times all the present stockholders have paid in.

The large majority of our new wells will be drilled in the high grade oil district where oil is now selling at from $1.70 to $2.05 per barrel for the crude, and may soon advance to $3.00 per barrel.

You can secure this stock now at less than its book value, and after you are a stockholder, now increase your holdings on a capitalization basis of one million dollars. The stock is non-assessable.

We have one rich new property that is entirely surrounded by oil wells on which we will drill 27 to 30 wells during the next four months. A 100-barrel well is reported 135 feet west of this property and a 150 barrel well 200 feet north of it, with 25 feet of rich pay sand. On this property 4 wells are started. At small cost can drill them in 21 days. Also at work on 5 wells in Cushing district.

We are starting three new wells on our big lease in Pawnee County. A reported 35 million gas well spraying oil was just drilled in the quarter section on the northeast and a reported fifteen million gas well on the section south. This lease is nearly six and one-half miles long, and we have already developed the deep high grade oil on this property. The next location may be a 2000-barrel well, and this oil is now worth over $2.00 per barrel.

We have several properties that by just a little good luck should produce more oil than all the stock when issued will total at the price offered you.

We are just completing a good well near the center of a 1400-acre lease in the Ranch Creek district of Pawnee County and will drill at once three to five new wells in that district.

A ten million gas well was drilled a few days ago right in-between a good block of our leases in Rogers County—we promptly closed a contract to sell the gas at 3½¢ per thousand—made seven locations and have already started drilling.

In another ninety days our oil and gas sales should be nearly three thousand dollars per day—while half that sum will pay good dividends on all the stock when issued.

The Uncle Sam Oil Company is doing things—and if you want a good block of real oil stock in a company before the price is boomed fifty times, act quickly—by writing for full particulars at once. Send four cents in stamps—write your name and address very plainly and we will be glad to send you by return mail complete information.

Kindly remember that our drills go deeper every hour, and that while you can secure the stock now at the old price—conditions may occur any day that will cause an advance of from 5 to 20 times. You should write for full particulars forthwith.

Respectfully submitted,

BACK IN FORTNIGHT TO RESUME TALKS BOB ANNOUNCES

Formal Headquarters for Campaign Are Opened at Madison for La Follette

MADISON, Wis., March 2.—(Special.)—Preparing to return to Washington yesterday, Senator La Follette said that he hoped to be back in the state within two weeks and would then continue his speaking campaign in Wisconsin. He declared that practically all of the important matters would be out of the way in Washington for some time.

Formal headquarters with several employees and stenographers have been opened here by Senator La Follette for the conducting of his campaign. There was much jubilation and good feeling at the quarters Tuesday night over the receipt of news indicating the favorable progress of the senator's presidential campaign in North Dakota.

When the senator returns from his speaking campaign, it is said that he will put in probably two days speaking in Milwaukee and will then visit sections of the state, which so far have not been visited by him in his speaking campaign.

PRIMARY SLATE MUST BE READY BY THIS SATURDAY

MADISON, Wis., March 2.—(Special.)—Saturday is the last day for the filing of papers for the presidential delegates in Wisconsin. The conservative republicans will have their list ready for filing before that date, according to present announcements. It is said that the lists for the twenty-six La Follette delegates will not be filed until Saturday. The democratic party will probably file the Wilson delegate list before the final day.

MERGE AID FUNDS

MADISON, Wis., March 2.—(Special.)—Because the fund donated by the late Frank Allis of Milwaukee for the support of needy short course agricultural students has not been in constant use in recent years, the board of regents have decided to merge it with another fund given by a Chicago man, the fund to be known as the "Geneva loan fund." This fund will be open to all agricultural students including students taking courses in home economics.

CLOGGED NOSTRILS OPEN AT ONCE, HEAD COLDS AND CATARRH VANISH

In One Minute Your Stuffy Nose and Head Clears, Sneezing and Nose Running Cease, Dull Headache Goes.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm." Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely, dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrh sore throat will be gone. End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dripping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

SPOTLIGHTS

STOCK FOOD

"Baby Mine" a sure enough winner—one big, long laugh from start to finish. "Baby Mine" is just about the funniest play ever written, and a monster matinee crowd laughed, and laughed until they cried. The Ted Dalley Stock company certainly can play comedy as well as the heavier plays, and they put in laughs that never were in the bill before. Just to hear Ted Dalley laugh is enough to make one feel that they have had their money's worth, and when he laughs everyone laughs with him. When he was laying down the law in "Fine Feathers," his admirers thought that Ted never would laugh again, but after seeing "Baby Mine" they know that he had that laugh that makes one feel happy hidden away to spring on them in this comedy.

Tomorrow night is amateur night, a whole lot of talent has been secured and a treat is in store. You ought to see the line up, then you would know that there is something doing.

On Saturday afternoon Ted Dalley will give a candy matinee for the kiddies, every kiddie attending the show will get a whole pound of candy or less and have a chance to see a show funnier than any "Charlie Chaplin" comedy.

MICHAEL SCHWEIZER WAS OLD SETTLER OF PRAIRIE DU CHIEN

Operated ShoeStore on Main Street Here for Forty Years and Was in Business at Postville

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis., March 2.—(Special.)—Michael Schweizer, an old settler of this city, died in the hospital at La Crosse Sunday morning.

Mr. Schweizer was in the boot and shoe business for forty years in the building now occupied by the Leader-Press office. His last place of business was at Postville, Iowa, but for the past two years he has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. John Hargat at La Crosse. He is survived by seven children, Chris, Louis and Gustave of St. Paul, Albert of Chicago; Mrs. Amelia Rosenberg of Milwaukee; Mrs. L. H. Barney of Haswell, Colo., and Mrs. John Hargat of La Crosse.

The remains were brought to this city Wednesday and funeral services held at 2 o'clock at the Congregational church, Rev. Saunders officiating.

The community was shocked to hear of the death of Mrs. E. Steiger, wife of Doctor E. Steiger, one of the oldest physicians in this part of the state. Mrs. Steiger had only been sick for a few days and her death

NEWS NOTES from MILWAUKEE

Gilbert M. Anderson, the "A" in Essanay, has sold his interest of part owner in the Essanay Film company to G. K. Spoor, the "S" of the partnership. Mr. Anderson, who is known around the world and back again as Broncho Billy, has made no announcement of his future plans, though many rumors about his future affiliations are floating about New York, where he now is.

Another late Essanay star, Charlie Chaplin, is also in New York. When Chaplin first joined Essanay he and Anderson entertained guests at a moving picture ball with a dance that was unanimously declared the funniest thing ever seen.

Why don't they put it on the screen for all the Chaplin and Broncho Billy fans to laugh over?

AMERICAN STARS ARE BEST OF PAIS

When Anna Little learned that Rhea Mitchell was to become a full-fledged American star she hastily planned a warm welcome and a dance. Rhea Mitchell has appropriately been nicknamed "Ginger," and she and Anna Little were good pals in the days when they worked at Inceville. Rhea now feels quite at home among the many players she used to work with who are now at Santa Barbara. Among them are Frank Borzage and Tom Chatterton.

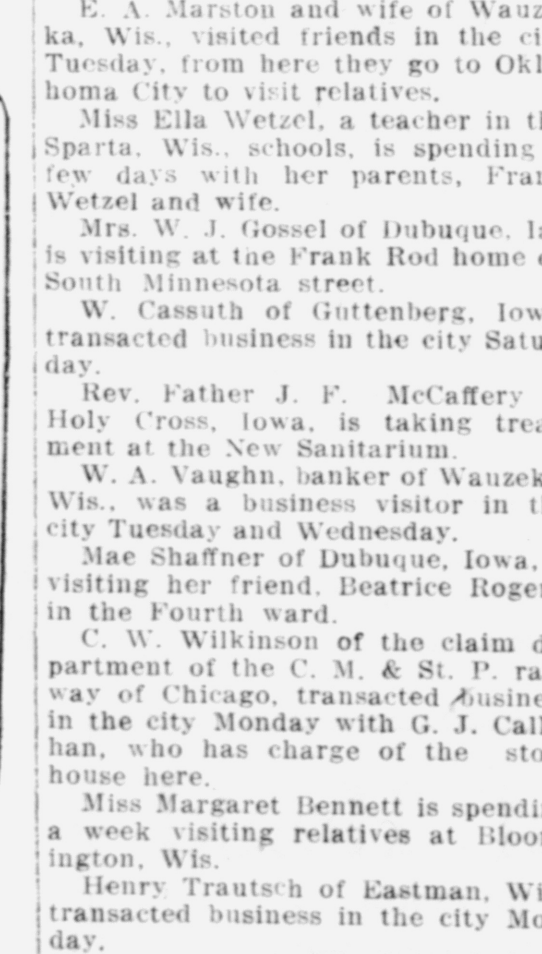

Miss Mitchell will make her first appearance as an American star in "Overalls." No, she doesn't wear 'em, because she is a society girl, but there is a foreman of a construction camp who wears 'em.

FRITZ BRUNETTE MAKES DEBUT SOON

Fritz Brunette, the emotional actress, makes her initial debut in the Sellig Red Seal play, "Unto Those Who Sin," to be released through V-L-S-E on March 8.

Miss Brunette, said to possess one of the most elaborate wardrobes in motion pictures, wears eighteen beautiful gowns in this production, and her work will certainly appeal. Her supporting cast is a most excellent one.

Everyone who saw "The Golden Chance," with Cleo Ridgely and Wal-

G. M. Anderson.

In cowboy roles, as "Broncho Billy," he gained world-wide fame. He believes, however, that the public is sick of cowboys, and will play other roles in the future.

lace Reid, and those who didn't see it but wish they had, will be glad to know that this handsome pair will again appear as co-stars in "Behind the Mask." It is a shame to put either of 'em behind a mask, isn't it?

Poker chips were selected by Mary Miles Minter, the little Metro star, the other day as a gift to a Canadian soldier starting for the front.

Bessie Eyton is equipped to play in almost any role. She can swim, play tennis and golf, ride, dance and drive a car.

NAME COUNTY EXPERT

MADISON, Wis., March 2.—(Special.)—J. M. Coyner of Mondovi was today selected as agricultural representative of Portage county by the university board of regents. The appointment of Mr. Coyner gives Wisconsin fifteen county agricultural representatives.

LA CROSSE WOMEN CAN SAVE MONEY

Instead of so much meat La Crosse housekeepers should serve "Minnesota" Macaroni twice a week. Their men folks will not only be glad to see them save the meat money but they will like the delicious, nut-like flavor of "Minnesota" macaroni much better than meat.

To those who do not know what a big difference there is in macaroni as sold at the stores, the rich, delicious flavor of "Minnesota" macaroni will be a revelation. It is made from genuine Durum wheat and is four times as nutritious as beefsteak. It is also easier to digest and costs only one cent a dish.

Try the handy "Minnesota" Cut Macaroni, which is cut into uniform pieces—it cooks more evenly and is quicker to prepare.

FRANKING INTERESTS' SPECIAL PLEADING

Children do not leave school at fourteen simply because they are fourteen, nor because the law allows, but because they are adolescent. At adolescence the will and the creative faculties assert themselves. Says Carlyle: "All true work is sacred. In all true work, be it but true hand labor, there's something divine." In the impulse of the adolescent child to go to work at fourteen there is, after all, a reaching for the divine. In the child's hunger for the world of work and of real things is a tiny reflection of that Infinite Spirit which in seven days made the world.

General Weather

Sunrise tomorrow, 6:39 a. m.
Sunset tomorrow, 5:55 p. m.
Temperatures Yesterday
High, 21; Low, 12; Precipitation, .05.
For Wisconsin: Partly cloudy and somewhat colder tonight. Friday generally fair; not so cold west portion.
For Minnesota: Fair and continued cold tonight. Friday fair with slowly rising temperature.
For Iowa: Partly cloudy tonight; colder east and central portions. Friday generally fair; not so cold north-west portion.
Weather Conditions
Light rain or snow has fallen in nearly all sections and continues at many stations this morning east of the Plains states and in the north Pacific states.
It is colder in the Central and Eastern states and much colder from eastern Nebraska to northern Texas. The temperature has moderated in the Gulf states and in the northwest.
Moderate depressions are central in the Middle Atlantic states, New Mexico and off the north Pacific coast and areas of high pressure are central over the Dakotas and off the South Pacific coast.
These pressure conditions indicate generally fair weather in this section for tonight and Friday with somewhat lower temperature tonight followed by slowly rising temperature Friday.

It is as un-American to criticize Germany when she is right as to defend her when she is wrong. The latest German note was an able exposition of the kaiser's position on the armed merchantmen controversy, the logic of which is inadequately answered by a rule of international law the basis of which no longer exists and the application of which is obviously a subterfuge.

While a woman may not want to go, she certainly wants to be invited.

Get the hypocritical twang of that? It is the atomizer of the National Association of Manufacturers spraying the odor of sanctity on child labor. Note also the complacent resignation of this from the same source:

Let us remember, too, that substantially, all the working people of the world have quit school at this early age, and are likely to as far ahead as we can see.

These quotations are from the report of the National Association of Manufacturers' committee on industrial education CIRCULATED BY THE BUREAU OF EDUCATION OF THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT.

Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the committee on industrial relations of the American Federation of Labor, has served upon P. P. Claxton, commissioner of the bureau of education, a demand for repudiation of the government pamphlet in which the report of the N. A. M. was reprinted. Mr. Walsh makes this pertinent comment in his letter to Mr. Claxton:

If your government bureau made a practice of sending broadcast all publications on the subject of industrial education, some palliation might be found for your conduct. But I found that you have not distributed the report of the government commission which investigated this subject. Nor have you circulated the declaration of the American Federation of Labor (urging general educational studies as part of the curriculum of industrial schools) representing two million organized workers of this country, adopted at the annual convention in San Francisco in November last.

It is not surprising that labor should have entered vigorous objection to the government circulation of this report. It is no more than special in its attempts to mask approval of child labor behind a tissue of flabby sentimentality.

The N. A. M. is within its rights in issuing such a discussion, however one may object to its conclusions. But what excuse can be found for its distribution under the seal of government approval?

OUR POLITICAL JUMPING-JACKS

Congress and the president are engaged in presenting themselves to the American public as jumping-jacks.

After fighting for a week to prevent the introduction of a warning resolution, the president suddenly demands that such a resolution be voted upon. After fighting for a week to force a warning resolution to a vote in spite of presidential opposition, the house meets the president's change of front by reversing itself and opposing a vote.

It all smells too much of politics. In our opinion the president was wrong and is right, the house was right and is wrong. Wilson has adopted a policy to which a large element in congress objects. If that policy is defeated by congressional opposition, congress should assume the responsibility.

THE TRIBUNE'S DAILY TRAVELETTE

(By Nilsah)

Sarajevo
Sarajevo is one of the towns that has been extensively press-agented since the beginning of the war. In July, 1914, nobody knew whether Sarajevo was a Russian violinist or a new drink. Now any of your children can tell that it is the capital of Bosnia, and give you its latitude and longitude and its precise strategic importance. But Sarajevo the picturesque is almost as badly neglected as ever.

In Sarajevo you see the Turk at his farthest west in point of dwellings and manners and customs. The city is laid out on western lines, though more than half the people are Turks. The streets are full of red-fuzzed gentlemen with melancholy eyes and apparently all the time in the world at their disposal. Ordinarily, Sarajevo is a very leisurely place, but for the moment it is full of soldiers and rumors of battle. The people are interested, thousands of the young men are fighting, but they are not as easily excited as the Austrians and Hungarians to the north. There is a dash of the Oriental in Sarajevo.

The old Turkish bazaar is the most characteristic sight in the capital. Here these that have something for sale come and sit by their wares, while those that have money to spend walk about and make disparaging remarks about the things they will eventually buy. Donkeys loaded with wood and hay until they are almost lost to view amble in from the country like itinerant haystacks or wood-piles. Their masters fortify themselves with coffee and cigarettes before plunging into battle. Everyone is smoking and drinking coffee, even the shoemakers and the coppersmiths while they work. Nicotine poisoning must be a mere commonplace.

Sarajevo has been called the city of spies. She is certainly a city of spies. There are more than forty mosques alone. A Roman Catholic bishop and a Moslem archbishop make her their headquarters. Besides the churches, there are many schools and colleges for Moslem and Christian. Here on her little river, ringed round with a semi-circle of hilly woodland, lies the heart of a strange province, a mingling-place for the Turk and those who were once his vassals.

DYNAMITE BLAST CAUSES DEAFNESS

Miss Charlotte Burton, American-Mutual favorite, co-star with William Russell in "The Thoroughbred", a five-part Masterpiece, de Luxe, now being shown at the Casino theater, is still suffering from an attack of deafness, due to the explosion of a large amount of dynamite, during the "shooting" of one of the scenes of the production. At first Miss Burton's condition was such that her physician and friends feared that she might be permanently deaf.

In the explosion, representing the destruction of a powder mine, an exceptionally large quantity of dynamite was used. At the time it was set off Miss Burton, by a strange turn of fate, happened to be considerably closer than it was necessary. The concussion was so great that not only was the entire mine destroyed, but windows within a half a mile shattered and many of the players and others engaged in the making of the picture hurled from their feet.

It was some time before Miss Burton realized that the drum of one of her ears had been affected by the concussion. She was hurriedly removed to her home in an automobile and her physician summoned. It was only by the most desperate efforts that the physician was able to save her hearing. Nevertheless, she is still a little deaf and it will be some weeks yet before her hearing is fully recovered.

HORNS CAN'T PLAY ABSTRACTIST MUSIC MUST GET NEW ONES

CHICAGO, March 2.—Some of the horns in the American Symphony orchestra refuse to emit color notes. The bass horn cannot play purple, and the French horn balks on green. For these reasons, Glen Dillard Gunn, director of the orchestra, had to postpone tonight's scheduled concert at which Isadore Berger, violinist and composer, planned to present his new abstractist color music. Gunn said he'll get new horns and produce the compositions late in the month.

Many a man can't even do his duty without putting on airs about it.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles
Land o' Little Children
The land o' little children is where I want to be.
Where you can pick stick candy right off a candy tree.
The land o' little children, Where oranges will grow Most every time you wish and wish Until the wish is so.
There's cocoanut cake for breakfast and apple pie at noon.
And when you want another piece you slice it from the moon.
The land o' little children, Bananas all the while, And every time you want a bunch You bow and make a smile.
Oh, ever the dreams are glowing in the little eyes that shine In that dear land of honey bread and angel cake and wine,
The land o' little children That you cross your heart and say: Oh, Lord, make me a little child Like once upon a day! —Baltimore Sun.

Newlywed
Butcher—"I have some very nice sugar-cured hams." Mrs. Newlywed—"I'm afraid they won't do. You see, my husband doesn't believe in homeopathy."

A Swell Song
Five-year-old Stella was fond of going to Sunday school and she liked especially the singing.
"Did they sing any pretty songs at Sunday school?" asked grandma of the little girl upon her return home.
"Only one," replied the youngster. "It was something about Greenland's ice cream mountains."—Musical America.

A Real Sport
She—"And don't you go in for sport of any kind?" He—"Oh, yaas, don't yer know. I'm—haw—passionately fond of dominoes."

A Stuffed Oath
The swearing habits of British soldiers annoyed Lord Wolseley, who became president of a society for the suppression of improper language. One day, when he was inspecting an Irish garrison, commanded by an officer renowned for his purple flowers of speech, the trumpeter, ordered to sound the charge, sounded the retreat instead.

The officer's mouth had opened to volley forth appropriate denunciations when he caught Wolseley's eyes fixed icily upon him. He hesitated, choked, stared wildly around, then followed: "Oh, you naughty, naughty trumpeter!"

Hadn't Gone
The story is going the rounds of the stock exchange that one of their number had the surprise of his life while on duty a few nights ago. What happened is as follows: Two special constables were patrolling the sides of a big building, and the arrangement agreed upon was that they were to meet at one of the corners at the end of their respective "beats." One arrived in a very damaged condition.

"Hello! have you met a burglar?" anxiously inquired one.
"No," ruefully replied the other. "You know that pretty girl we were flirting with, who told us that her husband had gone to the Dardanelles? Well, he hasn't."—Tit-Bits.

Stung Himself
A commercial traveler called upon a grocer at Gateshead the other day, and at the same time a poor old woman entered soliciting alms. The grocer, wishing to play a joke on the traveler, told the woman "to ask the master," at the same time pointing to the commercial.

The traveler was thunder-struck for the moment, but, regaining his self-possession, at once said, turning to the grocer, who was a very small man:
"Boy, give this poor woman sixpence out of the till."
The grocer said.—Tit-Bits.

And Biffed Him
"Say," said a young swell to a chum, "you wouldn't believe that Jack had so much spunk, but 'pon my word, he called down a caddy last night. He's sorry for it today, however."
"Why?"
"The caddy came down."—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

It is difficult to convince a farmer that one can do a day's work in eight hours.

WOMEN SHOULD GET THIS HABIT AS WELL AS MEN
Don't eat bite of breakfast until you drink glass of hot water.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds, and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, a re-urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

GERMAN SEAPLANE RAIDS BRITAIN BABE IS KILLED

LONDON, March 2.—A German seaplane raided the southeast coast of England last night, dropping four bombs of great explosive power, according to dispatches received here today. Two bombs wrecked the backs of houses and a third badly mangled a nine-months-old baby, who died in a hospital a few hours later.
The Germans took advantage of a heavy mist and flew very low.

OPPOSE ANTI TIPPING LAW

SIOUX CITY, Ia., March 2.—District Judge Jerson held the Iowa anti-tipping law unconstitutional. He said it was class legislation and the case against a barber for accepting a 25-cent tip was knocked out.

THEY ALL DEMAND IT

La Crosse, Like Every City and Town in the Union, Receives It

People with kidney ills want to be cured. When one suffers the tortures of an aching back, relief is eagerly sought for. There are many remedies today that relieve, but do not cure. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results to thousands. Here is N. La Crosse evidence of their merit.

John Sokolik, painter, 1106 Avon St., N. La Crosse, says: "My kidneys were weak and acted very irregularly. My back ached and I had pains through my loins. Doan's Kidney Pills fixed me up in good shape." (Statement given October 8th, 1910).

THE CURE LASTED OVER TWO YEARS LATER, MR. SOKOLIK SAID: "I GLADLY RECOMMEND DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS AGAIN AS THE CURE THEY MADE IN MY CASE HAS BEEN PERMANENT."

ENTERTAIN CLASS

Rev. and Mrs. J. J. S. Rumbarger entertained the members of the Catechumen class of the English Lutheran church at their home, 1122 Perry street, last evening. Forty young people, out of a total of fifty enrolled in the class, were present. The evening was spent in games of various sorts and refreshments were served.

LA CROSSE WOMEN'S CLUB
The members of the La Crosse Women's club, at their regular bi-weekly business meeting yesterday, decided to co-operate in the Go-to-church campaign, the purpose of which is to promote church attendance in La Crosse. The club was entertained yesterday at the home of Mrs. Harry Spence, 1533 Kane street.

Officers for the coming year were chosen at yesterday's meeting, the election resulting as follows:
President—Mrs. Fred B. Morley.
Vice president—Mrs. A. A. Bentley.

Corresponding secretary—Mrs. Harry Spence.
Recording secretary—Mrs. Earl G. Mell.

Treasurer—Mrs. George W. Lueck.
Directors—Mesdames H. L. Partridge, W. P. Long and George R. Reay.

Leaders—Mesdames Bert Nelson, M. J. Kent and Harry Spence.

It was also decided to hold a bird-house contest this spring, and voted to offer a prize of five dollars for the best bird house, which will be set up in Copeland park. Mrs. H. J. Bullock was appointed to arrange the details of the competition.

The La Crosse Women's club will pass its twenty-first milestone in March and it was decided to celebrate the event with the meeting of the club to be held March 15th at the home of Mrs. A. A. Bentley, 102 South Eleventh street.

No action was taken on the proposal of the Twentieth Century club that the observance of Baby Week be set for the week of May 15, although it is probable that no objection to this date will be offered. Mrs. Bentley spoke to the club on baby week observance and the club decided to furnish three infant's outfits.

At the conclusion of the business session the club adjourned, it being too late to take up the study of the lesson, which was postponed until a later date.

LUNCHEON
Mrs. Robert E. Newman was hostess at a pleasant four o'clock luncheon yesterday afternoon at her home, 1611 Adams street. Covers were laid for eight.

Card Clubs

Mrs. Emma Trenwith entertained the members of the Wednesday Five Hundred club yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. F. Robinson, 812 South Sixth street. The favors were won by Mrs. George Glass and Mrs. W. T. Irvine.

Mrs. Frank H. Fowler, 138 South Thirteenth street, entertained the members of the Wednesday Bridge club yesterday afternoon. Three tables of bridge were played, the honors going to Mrs. A. R. Baldwin. The club will meet again in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Baldwin, 1325 State street.

Announcements

The Ladies of the Maccabees, New Century Hive No. 101, will entertain their friends at a card party Friday evening at Centennial hall.

Mrs. John Kippon will entertain the members of the Neighborhood club this evening at her home, 1642 Caledonia street.

The Employees' Mutual Benefit association of the Marinello company will give a dance at Elks' hall tonight for members and friends.

AFTERNOON TEA

Mrs. Fred Stallsmith was hostess to a number of friends at a tea yesterday afternoon at her home, 1522 Loomis street.

ROTARY CLUB

The members of the Rotary club spent a most enjoyable time last evening when they were entertained by Mrs. George Ritter at her home at the county jail. In the early part of the evening ten tables of cinch were played, high honors going to Mrs. L. Motl and Henry Trepte and second to Mrs. A. Johnson and L. Motl. Following the serving of refreshments by the hostess, dancing and games furnished entertainment for the guests. Much amusement was created by an attempted Leap

F.A. REIMAN THE FASHION SHOP Fifth and Main Streets

NOW COME THE PRETTY THINGS FOR SPRING

Mr. Reiman has just returned from the eastern markets where he has purchased the newest in spring merchandise. Some of the goods have already arrived and are ready for your approval. Coats, Suits, Dresses, Skirts and Waists, in a variety of styles, shades and materials, each with that little individual touch that distinguishes our garments from the ordinary kind.

Year mock marriage, one of the club ladies taking advantage of the occasion to "pop the question" to a defenseless young man who hadn't the heart, nor the nerve, to refuse. However, Sheriff Ritter appeared upon the scene just in time to save the unfortunate young man, refusing to let the ceremony proceed further upon the ground that the lady was already married.

At the meeting last night George Ritter was chosen as "big chief" of the organization and the feathers, symbolic of the position, was handed over to him by Harry Taggart, who recently resigned as head of the club.

LEAP YEAR BIRTHDAY PARTY

Master Kenneth Clow, 1311 Charles street, another leap year baby, celebrated his second birthday Tuesday afternoon by entertaining eight of his friends. Those present were Buster and Lucile Caven, Mildred, Agnes and Lois Ruud, Helen Green, Roy Smith and Howard Clow.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY

The Young People's society of the Charles Street Lutheran church met in the church parlors Wednesday evening and was entertained by Miss Thelma Peterson and Leroy Peterson. The following program was given:

Piano solo—Miss Agnes Larson.

Mardi Gras Gayeties Open

NEW ORLEANS, March 2.—The festivities of Mardi Gras began today, and the annual carnival of six days promises to keep up to its former records. Pageants, masques, grand opera, horse racing, boxing matches, illuminations and general merrymaking will be the rule until Tuesday, when the maskers will revel in the streets. The carnival king will be crowned on Tuesday, and the coronation ball that evening will have the usual splendor.

New York Woman to Hunt Tigers in China

NEW YORK.—Few women have undertaken such an adventurous trip as that which Mrs. Roy Chapman Andrews has begun with her husband, an intrepid explorer. Into the wilds of China to hunt tigers for the American Museum of Natural History she has gone, and from sheer love of adventure. Mrs. Andrews was Yvette Borup, sister of the ill-fated George Borup of the Peary polar expedition. She was the schoolmate of the Kaiser's daughter, and rejected a Prussian nobleman to seek adventure. Her friends in America, as well as in Berlin, will watch eagerly for news from the depths of China.

St. Louis Women to Inspect Bakeries

ST. LOUIS, March 2.—Under the auspices of the state pure food commission, the Civic League and the Consumers' League, thirty St. Louis women have undertaken the task of personally inspecting each of the 600 bakeries of the city. Mrs. George Dobler and Mrs. George Dock, of the Consumers' League, are directing the work of inspection, and the findings will be made a part of the public records. Not only will the condition of the various bakeries be filed for record and action taken if necessary, but the Consumers' League will publish the names and standing of each bakery inspected.

The first Italian woman who sang in public in England was Francesca Margherita de L'Epine, who appeared in various operas in 1693.

Baby Campaign Arouses Much Interest In State

Nation-wide Propaganda Meeting With Greater Response Throughout Wisconsin Than was at First Predicted

MADISON, Wis., March 2.—The Baby Week campaign, to open next Saturday, has aroused a far greater response throughout Wisconsin than club women and health authorities had predicted. From every county in the state reports have come of organized campaigns to emphasize child welfare problems and publicly point out avenues of improvement. In a statement by the state health department this week, the permanency of the movement is upheld as most desirable.

"The nationwide campaign emphasizing the need of more intelligent care of our baby population before birth, as well as after birth, is no passing fad to be talked about for a few days and then forgotten," says the department. "Our statistics of births and deaths, which have been available for study in this state for only a few years, prove conclusively the magnitude of our infant mortality problem."

"In Wisconsin, for the population as a whole, which includes children under one year of age, the general death rate is less than 12 per thousand, while the lowest rate for children under one year of age during the last seven years is 80.5 per thousand infant population. The average infant death rate, therefore, is more than seven times that of the entire population including infants. The mortality among children under one year is so great that an equally high death rate is not again recorded for any age group at the age of 80 years or over. These conditions, startling as they may seem, are not peculiar to Wisconsin; in fact, the infant mortality rate for the country as a whole is considerably larger than the rate in this state."

The board points out that these important facts would not be known, and a baby week campaign would lose much of its ammunition, without vital statistics.

The bureau of the census is quoted as declaring that a marked reduction in infant mortality has been apparent in recent years. Increased accuracy in birth registration, improved sanitary conditions of cities, education in civic and home cleanliness, education of mothers in personal hygiene, especially in regard to food and care of infants, and a better understanding of the causes and prevention of infant mortality, are cited as the probable reasons for this decline.

The state figures show that the number of deaths reported each year from infantile diarrhea during the last five years is steadily declining. There does no, however, appear to be any decline in the number of deaths due to premature birth, congenital debility and malformations, although the statistics for the last year have not yet been compiled.

"Such being the case," concludes the statement, "no argument is needed to show that our greatest need at the present time is education along the lines of prenatal care of the mother and the unborn child. This can only be accomplished through direct contact with the prospective mothers and through the employment of visiting nurses and other tactful, sympathetic and intelligent co-workers."

Sob Crusade Will Not Save Mrs. Ida Warren

RALEIGH, N. C., March 2.—Governor Locke Craig has taken up for thorough study the evidence in the love murder case against Ida Ball Warren and her former sweetheart, Samuel P. Christy, who are condemned to death for the murder of the woman's husband, J. G. Warren. The governor has granted another reprieve which puts off the execution of the sentence until March 31. Meanwhile he will decide whether commutation is merited, and will hear arguments of counsel for the condemned lovers.

The state supreme court has rendered a unanimous opinion that the appeals of Ida Warren and Christy to that body had no merit. Contentions of the defense that Mrs. Warren actually took no part in the murder of her husband, even though she admitted having tried to poison him, and that she had no part in the conspiracy to kill, brought from Chief Justice Clark the opinion that she was the Lady Macbeth of the tragedy. Similarly, the defense of Christy, that he had made no confession except under duress and that barring this tainted testimony there was no further fact against him, fell down.

It is certain, according to those close to the governor, that the letters and petitions from clubs and persons outside the state, seeking to save Mrs. Warren from death, will play no part in the governor's decision. It is noticeable that there is no movement among the women of North Carolina to save her. The crusade carried on among women's clubs in other states is resulting in appeals for clemency. In fact the "sob" feature in the case is growing to large proportions. Local sentiment, however, favors the man in the case more than it does Mrs. Warren. But sympathy may be said to be scant, and to offset the clemency petitions, there are many letters pouring in protesting against the commutation of the death sentence.

Judge's Sister Weds Examiner

MADISON, Wis., March 2.—The approaching wedding of Gerald W. Jamison of Shullsburg to Miss Cora Gilbertson of Eau Claire, is announced here. Mr. Jamison is a deputy state bank examiner. Miss Gilbertson is a sister of Judge Julius Gilbertson of Eau Claire. The date of the wedding has not been announced.

HARLAN AFTER BERTH FOR TEDDY

CHICAGO, March 2.—John Maynard Harlan, former foe of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, opened his campaign today as a candidate for delegate-at-large to the republican national convention under pledge to vote for Roosevelt.

In an address at the Garrick theater this afternoon, Harlan declared his views on Roosevelt had changed and that the colonel is the only man who can save America from the war peril he declared menaces the nation from all sides.

The fellow who brags about having money to burn never seems to scorch his fingers.

OUCH! LUMBAGO! RUB PAINS FROM SORE, LAME BACK

Rub Backache away with small trial bottle of old "St. Jacob's Oil."

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back and out comes the pain. It is harmless and doesn't burn the skin. Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years.

has agreed that when convincing proof is brought forward to show that an American citizen was a minor at the time of his enlistment in the British army, he will be discharged without pay wherever he may happen to be when his discharge goes into effect.

Stranded—Even Unclothed

In consequence, he may find himself stranded without money to live on or to pay his passage home. Persons discharged from the British service are not allowed to wear the British uniform thereafter, so the erstwhile soldier may not even have a coat to his back. The state department has no funds appropriated for the care of cases such as these, and therefore the department requires that a deposit big enough to take care of the discharged recruit and pay his passage home shall be made by whoever is interested in getting him out of the service before the case is brought to the attention of the British government.

Numerous naturalized Americans are fighting in the German armies. A number of German businesses in this country are being managed by the women of the family, while the husband and father chases Russians or argues with the English on the western front. In Cincinnati, for instance, there is a German bakery being run by the lady of the house. Her husband and her three sons are fighting for the red, white and black. Incidentally it may be noted that she is making a success of the baking business.

There is a treaty between Germany and the United States providing that German subjects who have become citizens of this country shall be recognized as such in Germany if they have lived in the United States for five years. But if such a citizen emigrated after he was enrolled as a recruit in the standing army, or while he was on leave of absence during the regular service period which every German must render, or if he was in the reserve, and left after his "line" was warned or called on, he is liable to trial and punishment on his return, even if he has his American naturalization papers.

Many Called Back

Many Germans who returned to the fatherland to fight have done so on account of strong pressure exercised by the relatives they left behind them. One naturalized German of Pennsylvania who had married an American girl was induced by letters from his mother in Germany to cross the Atlantic and enter the army. After three months service he was badly wounded, and his former employer brought him back to Pennsylvania. His right arm had to be amputated, and he is now employed as a watchman in the plant where he was formerly a skilled laborer. The question of his citizenship is still being debated.

In some instances, men who go to serve in the European armies surrender their naturalization papers. The State department sends these papers to the state court by which were issued, which has power to determine whether or no the citizenship conferred by the papers shall be cancelled. However, comparatively few such papers have been received. The men who go back evidently intend to resume their American citizenship when the war is over. The immigration authorities do not ask an American returning from Europe what he has been doing over there. It has been recommended in general terms that our neutrality extend to all citizens, but no active steps are taken by the immigration bureau to detain those who have been joining in the war game.

Turkey and Russia Severe

Turkey and Russia take a highly severe attitude toward such of their subjects as see fit to transfer their allegiance. A Russian subject who naturalizes under another government has committed an offense for which he can be arrested and punished on his return to Russia, unless he first gets permission to return from the czar's government. The United States dissents from Russia's position in the matter, but a former Russian citizen who returns to Russian soil puts himself within the jurisdiction of Russian law. If he conceals the fact of his American naturalization, this government is under no obligation to protect him while he is in his native land.

The laws of Turkey also forbid a Turk who has naturalized in another country to return to Turkey, under penalty of arrest and imprisonment, or at best, expulsion. Here too the United States dissents, but in the absence of a treaty with Turkey covering the point, cannot guarantee to its naturalized Turkish citizens that they will not be arrested or expelled when they go home.

Are Soldiers Citizens?

The most interesting angle of the situation from the American point of view is the future status of all these soldier citizens on their return to the United States. Several such cases are already before the courts. For instance, there is an American from Detroit who served in the British army. He came back to this country on the promise of employment, and was arrested under the alien contract labor law, on the ground that his citizenship was forfeit. His case is being tried, and is attracting especial attention on account of the precedent it will establish.

Taken in round numbers, a small army of Americans have enlisted under various warring banners. But compared with our whole population, especially our total population of alien birth, the number of these fighting Americans is surprisingly small. Its smallness is a striking demonstration of the rapidity with which our immigrants become genuine citizens in heart as well as in name.

with Loot

Haberdashery valued at about $1,000, including all the store's spring neckwear, was stolen from the Servis Tailoring company's establishment, 422 Main street, some time last night. Police today were without a clue to either the whereabouts of the goods or the identity of the thieves.

About forty dozen gloves—all the leather gloves in the Servis stock—were carted off by the thieves. They took two suitcases from the stock, and packed in all the silk handkerchiefs and neckties, gloves and mufflers that the store contained. A pile of suits was found upon the floor of the store this morning, indicating that the robbers had been frightened away or had changed their minds after packing up the more portable booty.

The robbery took place sometime shortly after midnight, it was believed, since there were no tracks visible underneath the window in the rear by which entrance was made. Snow began to fall about midnight, and continued until early this morning, the police say, thus covering the tracks of the thieves.

Entrance was gained by prying open the iron shutters of the rear window, and "jimmying" up the sash.

"A professional job" was the verdict of the police, based upon the care with which the loot had been selected, and the workmanlike manner in which the window had been forced.

PROBLEM PLAYS OF STOCK COMPANY IN RANGE OF CRITICS

The following letters criticising stock company performances at La Crosse theater were received by The Tribune today:

"La Crosse, Wis., 3-1-16.

"Dear Sir: I think that the Stock Co. at the opera house are going a little too far in the class of immoral and obscene plays that they have given and intend to give. The Lure was bad but The Blindness of Virtue is one of the worst pieces of filth that has ever been put on the stage. I am writing the papers and our chief of police and I think all public minded citizens should unite in a protest and force the stock company to present only clean plays.

"Thanking you for any publicity you will give this movement, I am yours very truly,

"C. D. AUSTIN."

"March 1st, 1916.

"Gentlemen: Why do the people of this city stand for the filthy rotten shows put on by the Stock company at the La Crosse Theater? The Lure and now The Blindness of Virtue have been presented.

"I am in the theatrical business and the cause of bad business is due mostly to this class of shows.

"The people of La Crosse should unite in forcing the Ted Dalley Stock Co. to present only clean plays.

"I think you will agree and help us to elevate the stage in place of dragging it down into the mire.

"Anything I can do to assist in cleaning the stage of this city from these obscene plays, I will gladly do.

"Yours very truly,

"E. C. ROCKWELL,

"Cook Hotel, La Crosse, Wis."

The manager of the stock company declared that the letters are misleading and unjust, that the plays criticised are frank portrayals which, in clean spirit and proper methods, teach great moral lessons.

WHY HAIR FALLS OUT

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After a few applications all dandruff disappears and the hair stops coming out.

VERDUN FRONT IS QUIET AFTER WEEK OF GREAT EFFORT

In Paris and Berlin the impression prevails that the thirty-six hour lull in the Verdun fighting is only preliminary to a grand assault on the Verdun forts.

Attackers Must Rest
"Although modern conditions of attack and defense vary, the old time flux between battle and rest cannot be avoided," declares the Frankfurter Zeitung. "Enormous material must be moved for the Germans over hilly country. Moreover, the roads probably have been demolished by French and German shells."

Another Fort Taken
An Amsterdam dispatch carried an unconfirmed report from German sources today to the effect that the French have evacuated Fort DeVaux, one of the Verdun forts, two miles southeast of Fort Douaumont.

The position, it was stated, was wrecked by German artillery fire, but heavy French artillery fire from the heights south of Douaumont rendered the Germans unable to occupy it.

The official statement from the German war office was delayed somewhat in transmission, giving rise to the belief that news of important operations was being awaited. Berlin, however, failed to send official confirmation of the Amsterdam report that Fort DeVaux had been evacuated by the French and reported only minor fighting in the Verdun region. There was nothing in the German official statement to support Amsterdam reports that the Germans are about to launch a new drive through the Argonne.

Crisis On Sunday
The crisis in the battle for Verdun came on Sunday, when the Germans threw heavy forces against the French front extending from the Pepper Heights through Douaumont, Paris reported today.

Until they were within close range of the French guns the Germans were under the protection of small hills. Emerging from the ravines they came under the fire of hundreds of French field pieces and machine guns and were thrown back in a six hours' battle.

Paris Crowded With Wounded
Thousands of French wounded are arriving in Paris. Amsterdam reports train-loads of German wounded are streaming through northern France and Germany. One report said that 220 hospital trains with German wounded have reached Aix la Chapelle.

The French war office reported the repulse of a German attack against Fresnes yesterday afternoon, casting discredit on an official press report from Berlin that Fresnes had been captured by the Teutons.

PARIS, March 2.—The lull on the Verdun front continued throughout last night, the war office reported this afternoon.

With the promise that they would mend their ways, Joseph Fema, and Henry and Max Schwartz, who have admitted having stolen copper junk, were yesterday afternoon paroled by Judge John Brindley. Sidney Mendell and William Lightner were also given another chance by the court.

"Big brothers" were procured for the five lads.
The Mendell boy will answer for his conduct for the next six months to Harry Montfort. J. M. Storkerson will have charge of the Lightner lad. D. C. Dewey, superintendent of the La Crosse Rescue mission, who has probably been a "big brother" to more boys than any one in La Crosse, will take care of Joseph Fema, ring-leader of the copper trio. S. J. Denigan will act as "big brother" for the Schwartz brothers.

The Mendell and Lightner lads pleaded guilty to entering the Tausche Hardware store and stealing revolvers.
Eight boys have been saved from the industrial school by La Crosse men who have consented to act as "big brothers" within the past week.

Samuel G. Marson Is Called by Death at Advanced
Age of 85
Years

Samuel G. Marson, who has been making his home with his daughter, Mrs. H. E. Brock, for many years, died at her home, 1128 State street, Wednesday noon, of the infirmities of advanced age. Mr. Marson was 85 years old. Mr. Marson was born June 15, 1830, in Nottingham, England. He served in the war of the rebellion. He was a member of the Masons, Elks and the G. A. R.

The body of Mr. Marson was sent today to Sioux Falls, S. D., where burial will be made tomorrow. Mr. Marson is survived by one daughter, Mrs. H. E. Brock, 1128 State street.

LA CROSSE MEETS MILWAUKEE FRIDAY IN FIFTH DEBATE

Milwaukee Team Which Defeated Normal Last Year
Is Here in Effort to Repeat

The fifth annual debate between La Crosse and Milwaukee normals will be held tomorrow evening at eight o'clock.

This morning a mass meeting was held at the normal to work up enough enthusiasm to fill the auditorium tomorrow night. Much spirit has been manifested in forensic work this year and there is a keen desire prevailing at the state school to avenge the defeat last year at the hands of the Milwaukee team. The same men compose their team this year that defeated La Crosse in 1915.

The judges tomorrow night will be Professor O. W. Dickerson of the Winona normal, Professor Arthur Beatty of Madison, and Superintendent A. E. Kingsford of Baraboo.

Last night in a practice debate, the negative team which left for Platteville on a noon train, defeated the affirmative, which remains here by a unanimous decision, according to the decision of three judges who criticized the teams.

The three Milwaukee men who will argue against the advisability of the United States forming an alliance with the A. B. C. powers are Hugn Riordan, Ervin Mattuschek and Andrew Brunhart. They arrived in the city on an evening train.

DISCUSSION LEADS EVEN TO POSSIBLE WAR WITH GERMANY

President. A meeting of the foreign affairs committee was called this afternoon with final action possible then.

The president delivered an ultimatum during the day to congressional leaders that he would insist upon a record vote and let it be known that he will stand by his position while congress is "hearing from the country."

The president also took up the matter of republican support, inviting house Republican Leader Mann to confer with him late this afternoon. Stirring scenes unparalleled since

Congress Crisis Committee

Upon the following twenty-one representatives, comprising the house foreign affairs committee, depended today the immediate decision in the president's struggle with congress over a resolution to warn Americans off armed merchantmen:

Democrats: Flood, Virginia, chairman; Cline, Indiana; Linthicum, Maryland; Good, Arkansas; Stedman, North Carolina; Harrison, Mississippi; Smith, New York; Thomas, Oklahoma; Shackelford, Missouri; Sabath, Illinois; Ragsdale, South Carolina; Loft, New York; Hudson, Alabama—12.
Republicans: Cooper, Wisconsin; Porter, Pennsylvania; Rogers, Massachusetts; Temple, Pennsylvania; Foss, Illinois; Miller, Minnesota; Mott, New York; Kennedy, Rhode Island—8.

Spanish war days were brought on by the senate debate. Every senator was in his seat. Galleries were jammed. Nearly 100 house members came over and crowded, standing, about the chamber.

The day of turmoil made it practically certain that the senate will sustain the president, but the greatest doubt still prevailed regarding the house's action.

Lodge Follows Stone

Stone was followed by Lodge, who agreed the question should come to a vote at once that the president sorely needed the aid of all senators, of whatever political party.

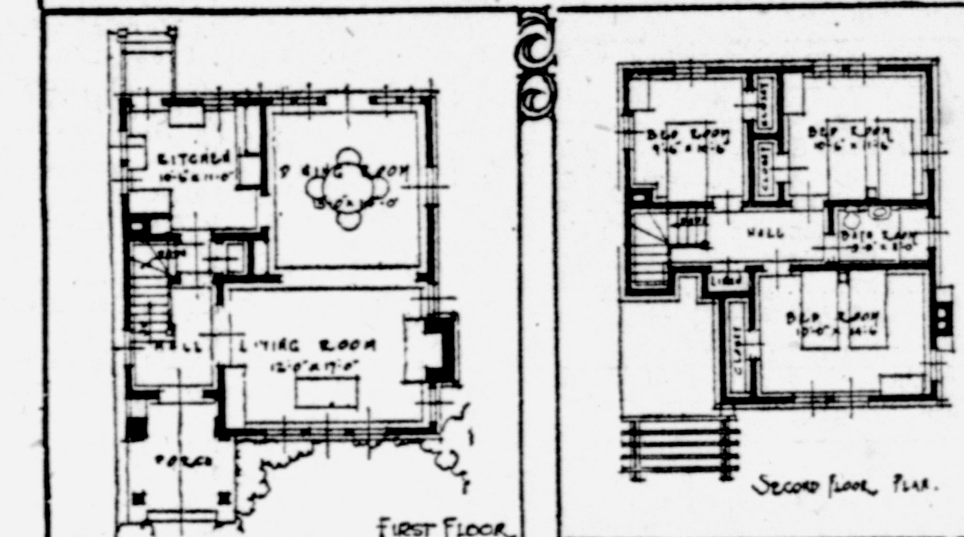

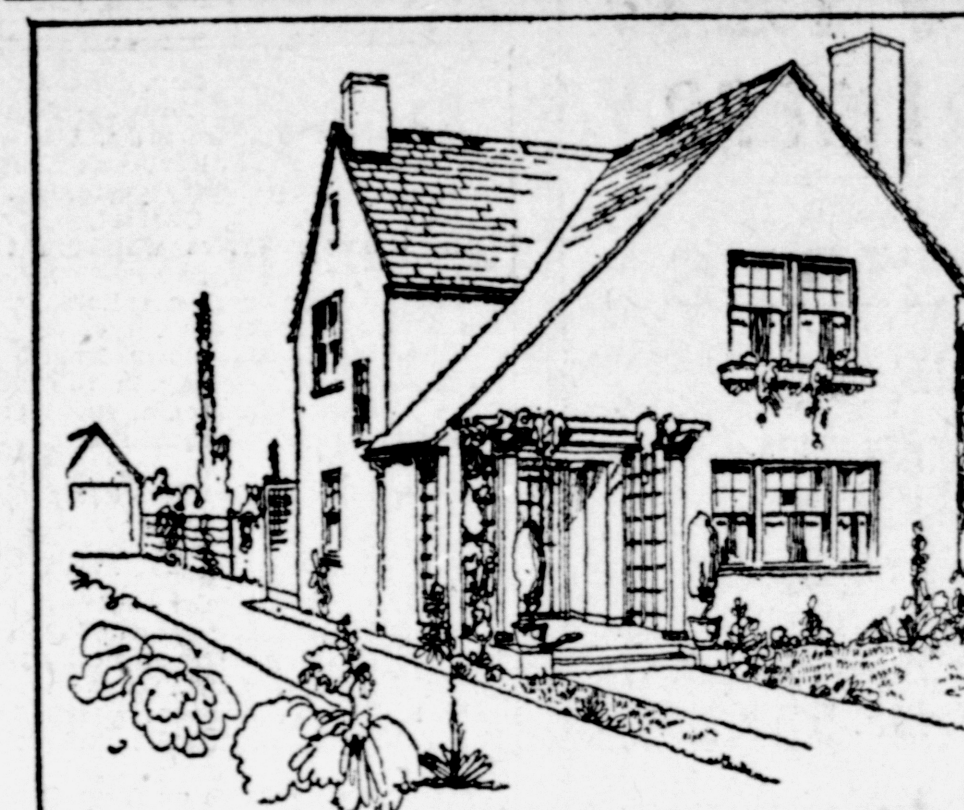

Stone admitted he and the president were not in agreement as to the armed merchantmen policy. The president's attitude he stated as follows:

"The president is disposed to support the contention that merchant ships have the right to arm for defensive purposes.
"What is defense, he does not say, and I do not know. Furthermore, his attitude is, as I understand it, that if a German submarine should attack a merchantman and if American citizens should suffer he would hold the German government strictly to account and if the German government persisted in its course, he would call the matter to the attention of congress, the war making body of the government.
"My opinion is mature and my sense of duty is imperative. My viewpoint is that if a merchant vessel is armed and if it is transporting munitions or contraband or troops, it is in every fundamental purpose a warship.
"But with the aid of congress the president will be able to bring both Germany and Great Britain to terms and relieve the 'acute situation'."

Wants Congress to Act

To Chairman Flood of the house foreign relations committee, the president declared again today by telephone that he wanted congress to act on a "clean cut issue." He does not want any compromise resolution, he reiterated, or any resolution that in its final analysis will do anything short of clearly establishing just how congress stands in its attitude to-

This pretty little home, the dominant features of which are practicability and economy of construction, can be built for $3,000. ward himself and the present situation. To bring this about a vote is wanted on one of the resolutions such as Representative McLeomore's warning Americans to stay off armed merchantmen.

Prefers McLeomore Resolution
The president told Flood he would much prefer a vote on the McLeomore resolution. Flood however, said there was a strong pressure on the committee to revamp that resolution before reporting it out. The White house was informed that a tentative vote in Flood's committee revealed that the members can come to terms in favor of reporting out the McLeomore resolution. The committee, however, postponed a meeting scheduled for 10:30 a. m. to 3 p. m.

No effort was made today by the administration to conceal the anxiety felt over the turn affairs have taken, nor to discount the possible political effect, with many primaries approaching. Regret was expressed that congressmen should be forced into such a fight at this time but it was declared that, until congress acts, that the hands of the president are tied.

Fear Fight Will Affect Primaries

Democratic opponents of the president's purpose made gloomy predictions of the consequences and republicans cheerfully agreed that the effect of the party fight would be seen in the primaries.

One reason for postponing action today in the house included belief by administration supporters that all delay was in favor of the administration. Another reason was to give Chairman Flood time to secure information from the White house and state department to place before the committee this afternoon. Flood was directed to secure copies of German and British diplomatic papers bearing on the armed merchantmen question and also ascertain if there was any secret information the committee should have.

To Representative Garrett of Tennessee, rules committee member, who went to the White house at 10:30 to confer with the president, the latter reiterated his position, saying that he wished "no vote of confidence" but an out-and-out vote on the issue before congress.

Await Appendices

The state department admitted today that "all negotiations of any kind whatever with Germany have been held up pending action by congress on the armed merchantmen question and pending the arrival of the appendices to the German submarine decree."

Throughout the afternoon the charge was renewed in the senate corridors that the president had determined to go to war with Germany. The charge created something of a sensation.

"I have heard three senators say within the last ten minutes that they know Gore spoke the truth," Senator Jones said at one time.

Senator Gore himself pointed out that Stone had denied the statement with reservations. In its phraseology, he said, the Stone answer to his question had evaded a direct denial.

Who the three senators were who said they knew Gore's statement to be correct, Jones refused to say.

"The president made no such statement as quoted by the senator from Oklahoma," said Stone on the floor. "Whatever the president said is something I do not care to repeat. When I go to the White House and hold a conference with the president, what he says to me is sacred. I have not repeated conversations I have had with the president. I have stated impressions that conversations I had with him made upon my mind and I stated them in substance in a letter I wrote to the president, which has been published."

Lodge paralleled the present and past Mexican situations.

"The criticism of the administration for failure to protect Americans in Mexico, despite warnings to them, continues," said Lodge. "The attitude of the president in his letter to Senator Stone is the one I have always upheld. He has a right to the vote and to know if congress is behind him or whether congress takes the view that the opposing power is taking."

"There are times," said Senator Williams, following Lodge, "when there are irrepressible conflicts. The time has now come when we must settle this question of America."

"The president has been brought to this situation by senators who have represented the pleas of foreign capitals.

"Shall I exclaim America first or shall I sing 'Deutschland uber alles'?"

Williams insinuated that "foolish politicians" were responsible for the president's difficulties.

"Americans without frills, embroideries, or hyphens have a right to live here and be heard," said Williams ironically, pleading for Americanism in the present dispute.

"Foreign relations are the work of the president. The chief magistrate of the United States has been nagged and prodded, aye, dared, to surrender to the initiative in foreign relations to congress. 'Very well,' he says, 'you have made my enemies believe I am weak, that my people are disunited. Now, I want a showdown.'"

Will Be Show-down
"And I believe it will be a show-up," said Williams. "He has said 'I am tired' and picked up the gauntlet, to find out if the patriotism of congress is behind him or not—if I am not in authority then kill me as a negotiator."

"Bring on your Gore resolution and any other resolutions and table them. Let's see whether senators stand against the president on a principle of international law 500 years old."

"The international law is plain," continued Williams, "and Germany wishes to change it and make us a party to the crime. For us to recognize Germany's claim would be an unneutral act. The only danger of war is in the effort to prevent the president from carrying on negotiations. It is your action and yours alone that induced the last position taken by Germany."

Denouncing all American Sympathizers with European belligerents, Senator Gore answered: "I believe the holders of a half billion of the allies' bonds would like to have us insure their cause. Our whole warfare should not be placed in the hands of any one madcap American who might ship on an armed merchantman."

"It is a right that is a survival of piracy, but civilization abrogates brutal rights," Gore continued. "Slavery was once a legal right. Every madcap American citizen has a legal right to risk his own life and engulf his nation in bloodshed. Every American has a right to be protected against becoming involved in this butchery."

"My only contention is that pending this struggle the legal rights should be withdrawn. We ought to say, as we would to a son or daughter, 'Don't you go on an armed ship.'"

"If an American is killed, what

GUNNISON, Colo., March 2.—The worst snowstorm in this section in years has resulted in nine snowslides in a two-mile stretch along the Denver and Rio Grande's track in Black canon, striking three trains with the loss of two lives.

A wrecking train enroute today to the aid of a passenger train which was cut in two by a snowslide yesterday, was struck by an avalanche 500 feet wide. The tool and tackle car of the wrecker was brushed into the water of the canon a short distance from the tracks. The wrecker's engine was completely buried by the snow.

A freight train was also struck by a slide. None of the train crews was injured.

In a gale and blizzard all available laborers were engaged today in trying to dig out the stalled trains and recover the bodies of the passenger and express messenger now believed crushed to death in the wreck of the first train yesterday. A sixteen inch snowfall was reported with no end forecasted. The canon is blocked by enormous drifts.

Earl Levy, a passenger and Charles Matthews, express messenger, are those believed to be dead.

NOMINATES MARSHAL

WASHINGTON, March 2.—President Wilson today nominated Joseph A. Wesser of Crookston, Minn., to be United States marshal.

consolation to his family is war?"

"Your resolution doesn't withdraw the right of any American to travel, does it?" asked Clapp.

Shouldn't Exercise Right

"No, it urges Americans not to exercise it," answered Gore. "No, it just warns them if they exercise that right, we'll withdraw our protection!" exclaimed Lodge.

Senator Borah asked Gore if the resolution were passed and 100 Americans were killed by a submarine, would the president refuse to take action.

Gore replied that passage of the resolution would prevent just such a slaughter by refusal of passports to Americans.

Gore insisted his resolution is of the same principle as the ruling of the state department, refusing to issue passports to Americans who wished to visit warring countries.

"In one case," answered Oliver, "the state department acts under its constitutional power, in the other congress is leaving its proper province."

Gore asked since when the secretary of state has been given power to deny to any American an inalienable right, if it were a right. He denied congress was exceeding its powers in warning Americans.

Senator James said he distinguished between Americans "gallivanting around sightseeing" and business travelers.

No Distinction in Right

"There is no distinction in right," Gore retorted. "The state department has no right to inquire a traveler's reasons. Are there no American or neutral ships immune from attack?"

"If on a belligerent ship they embark to their death and lead the republic to war, would it be a misfortune or any act of tyranny to have denied them passports?"

"My resolution is based on the report that the president was determined to go to war if necessary and that certain senators believed the entrance of the United States into war would be a blessing—an almost incredible report, but there was every circumstance of truth."

"If such a thing be even conceivable, I do not feel I could withhold my service to avert war."

Gore said he would accept a denial from Stone that the administration thinks war might not be undesirable.

"The president never stated to me that he believed in any way or entertained the thought that war between the United States and the central powers would be desirable or result in good to the United States," said Stone.

"Why did you not ask the president as to the truth of this report?" Gore was asked.

"I had no invitation to see him, nor had I any reason to believe he would tell me if I asked him. If the report is untrue of course everybody is glad."

When constipated or bilious give "California Syrup of Figs."
Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative," they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

THE PORT OF SHELTER

BY IZOLA FORRESTER

(Copyright, 1916, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Name's Myrtis," Miss Calder said, glancing over her spectacles at Ben. "Kinder fancy, ain't it, for a girl in her position?"

"What do you call her position, Aunt Polly?"

"Well, sort of dependant. She's just getting over the fever and it'll take quite a spell for her to get her strength back so she can do any work. Esther understands that. She won't be a mite of good to me for weeks. Still, it's only March. Maybe by the end of June she'll be all right. I want her to help with the summer boarders. She's been assistant librarian, but that's too confining for her now, and anyway they won't take her back. I guess she won't be in the way."

Ben laughed, lounging in the doorway with the Gordon setter nosing at his hand.

"You'd tuck any one under your wing, wouldn't you, Aunt Polly, if he needed it? Old Brookside Farm is a regular Port of Shelter in time of trouble."

The next day he drove down to meet Aunt Polly's latest waif of chance. Loving and motherly by nature, with no child of her own to pet and tend, she always seemed to be giving out help to some one.

Her sister Esther had written to her about Myrtis Lampton. She had been brought up in one of the church homes at Wakefield, the orphaned daughter of a schoolmate of Esther's.

When she was eighteen, Esther had found her a position at the town library and had kept an eye on her, as she said, until the girl had come down in the winter with typhoid fever.

"And I do feel it was my fault letting her board in one of those cheap little houses near the river flats," wrote Esther to Brookside. "I could have taken her in here with us just as well as not, but you know how fussy Andrew is, so I let her go. But just as soon as she's able to be about I want to send her out to the farm to you, Polly. She needs loving and chinking up, that's all."

Ben agreed heartily when he saw the lone figure get off the Providence train and come toward him. White faced she was, with big blue eyes, and he knew by the way she got into the carriage she was still weak and shaky.

Through the long summer days she lay out under the maples in the hammock getting stronger slowly. Miss

PRESIDENT PRAISED AS COURAGEOUS BY
PRESS OF LONDON

Move to Force Count in Congress Favorably Commented Upon by Journals

LONDON, March 2.—"Plucky" and "courageous" were terms used by the London press today in describing President Wilson's move to force a count of noses in congress on the question of upholding his position with regard to Germany.

"The stand taken by the president is straight-forward and courageous," said the Westminster Gazette.

"President Wilson is assured of the sympathies of the allies," said the Globe, one of the president's most severe critics.

"The president's stand is plucky," said the Pall Mall Gazette, which expressed the hope that President Wilson will not compromise with his opponents in congress on the basis of a limitation of armament. Such a compromise would cause ill-feeling here, the Gazette added and would be only a measure of expediency, inasmuch as Americans would continue to let me drive you over there and face it, I'll coach you up to it."

Ben said nothing when he heard of the plan, but he smiled across the table at Myrtis, and she colored delicately. "When the weather's rough this winter Ben can drive over with you," said Aunt Polly happily, so busy serving dinner she never noticed what was happening right under her nose. "Like enough you won't be a bit lonesome out here. Would you rather go back to Esther and do library work?"

"Oh, I'd much rather be here with you," Myrtis exclaimed. "It's home now."

"Well, just stay, then, child. We love to have you. Don't we, Ben?"

"Certainly do," said Ben. "Seems as if you belonged here now. Aunt Polly took me when I was a little shaver after my folks died and brought me up, and I know how I love the place."

The letter came the following week notifying the new teacher of her appointment, and Aunt Polly was, if anything, more enthusiastic than Myrtis herself. She went about the house singing, and Myrtis stole down to the walk by the brook in the pine glen just to think how wonderful life had turned out for her. It was so good just to be wanted and loved after one had been a waif on the waves of chance and circumstance. Now she would stay on at Brookside, working and doing her part, too, with no fear of the long winter facing her. The hemlock branches cracked of the slope above where she sat. Ben called hello to her.

"Have you seen the black calf anywhere?"

"Not down here."

"I've been hunting it for an hour," he declared without a quail. He swung down the slope and landed on the rocks just below her. "Don't you love this place? I used to come here when I was a little fellow and listen to the water as it broke over the rocks. I'm glad you're going to stay."

"It's dear of Aunt Polly to let me. It's all her doing. She just shows you the right way to go somehow and makes it seem easy. I was afraid to face the winter alone."

"You wouldn't have had to," Ben blurted out. "I wasn't going to let you go away." He stopped and looked up at her as she sat on the bank, ferns and pine needles around her. "I'd have told you right straight off. Now, I suppose I ought to wait till spring."

Myrtis was silent. Her chin leaning on her hand, she looked down at the brook, afraid to meet the big boy's eyes.

"It's natural for you to stay here," he went on. "The place will be mine some day, and Aunt Polly loves you. You can teach this winter if you want to, but the minute you get tired, Myrtis, I want you to quit, and I've got my mother's wedding ring she gave me when she died, and told me some day it would be for the girl I loved best. Myrtis, can't you say anything at all to me?"

She met his eyes with tear-filled ones, and held out her hands to him, whispering, "I'm glad, Ben."

Iron Is Greatest of All Strength Builders, Says Doctor
A Secret of the Great Endurance and Power of Athletes

Ordinary Nuxated Iron Will Make Delicate, Nervous, Run-down People 200 Per Cent. Stronger in Two Weeks' Time in Many Cases.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Most people foolishly seem to think they are going to get renewed health and strength from some stimulating medicine, secret nostrum or narcotic drug, said Dr. Sauer, a specialist of this city, when, as a matter of fact, real and true strength can only come from the food you eat. But people often fail to get the strength out of their food because they haven't enough iron in their blood to enable it to change food into living matter. From their weakened, nervous condition they know something is wrong but they can't tell what, so they generally commence doctoring for stomach, liver or kidney trouble or symptoms of some other ailment caused by the lack of iron in the blood. This thing may go on for years, while the patient suffers untold agony. If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while, double their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated like nuxated iron if you want it to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless. Many an athlete or prize-fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance and filled his blood with iron before he went into the affray, while many another has gone down to inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron.

NOTE—Nuxated Iron recommended above by Dr. Sauer is not a patent medicine nor secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists and whose iron constituents is widely prescribed by eminent physicians everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy, in nearly all forms of indigestion, as well as for nervous, run-down conditions. The Manufacturers have such great confidence in Nuxated iron that they offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 60 who lacks iron and increase their strength 200 per cent or over in four weeks' time provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by Mariner's Pharmacy and all other druggists.

MINING SWINDLER ARRAIGNED TODAY
NEW YORK, March 2.—Dr. John Grant Lyman, corpulent broker, brought back from St. Petersburg, Fla., to face a charge of swindling through his mining stock operations, today was to be arraigned in federal district court, following a night of discomfort in the Tombs.

"If they had let my firm of Putnam and Company go on for a little while longer," Lyman told Deputy Marshall today, "I could have cleaned up a million. I'd be willing to risk a life sentence for that."

Lyman said he left New York hurriedly because Gorham Tufts of Los Angeles, one of the bondsmen, who lost when he skipped a $25,000 bond on the coast, was hot on his trail.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK
CROSS, FEVERISH

When constipated or bilious give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative," they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Calder would sit near in one of the rustic rockers, reading or sewing, singing softly to herself, and ready with a smile when Myrtis awakened.

"I'm so useless, Aunt Polly," she said one day. "I'm no more good to you than a weed."

"Some weeds have turned our healing herbs, dearie," answered Aunt Polly happily. "Just you rest and sleep and stop worrying."

Late in the afternoon on Sunday, Ben would go into the parlor alone totally unconscious of the figure out and play on his violin. Maybe he was in the hammock, but if he was he surely made good hit-or-miss guesses what to play. Not new songs, but old, sweet ones that gripped the heart with memories. Myrtis could remember how her mother had sung some of them, "Aileen Arrop," "The Low Backed Car," "Robin Adair," "Loch Lomond," and "Allan Water."

"I just dread to think of going away," she said to Miss Calder one day in early August. The latter looked at her over the tops of her glasses.

"Well, I shouldn't, if I was you, Myrtis," she responded pleasantly. "Why don't you take the school examination over here at the crossroads and teach there. It's twelve a week, and you could board here if you liked."

"Do you think I'd pass?" she asked eagerly.

"Of course you would, child. I taught there myself years ago when I was a girl. You don't need Normal out here to teach. I'll write to the school board tomorrow, and you bet

President Wilson's Message on Advertising

Contained in the following letter to the President of the Associated Advertising
Clubs of the World

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

October 11, 1915.

My dear Mr. Houston:

Advertising is a factor of constantly increasing power in modern business and it very vitally affects the public in all its phases, particularly since the mediums for the dissemination of advertising have increased so remarkably in recent years. For business men, therefore, it is of the utmost importance that the highest standards should be applied to advertising as to business itself.

The country is to be congratulated on the work of the Associated Advertising Clubs to establish and enforce a code of ethics based upon candid truth that shall govern advertising methods, and the effect of its work should be of the greatest benefit to the country. It augurs permanence and stability in industrial and distributive methods because it means good business judgment, and more than that, it indicates a fine conception of public obligation on the part of men in business, a conception which is one of the inspiring things in our outlook upon the future of national development.

Cordially and sincerely yours,

Woodrow Wilson

SPARTA, Wis., March 2.—(Special.)—Assemblyman A. E. Frederick, the "fighting parson" of Kendall, came to Sparta to "kill two birds with one stone" when he arrived here yesterday to deliver an address, "Fighting Boozie," in his dry campaign for the republican congressional nomination and to defend a suit filed against him by Herman Aldach upon an allegation of extortion.

The Aldach suit is on the circuit court calendar which will be taken up by Judge Edward C. Higbee when he comes to Sparta to open the annual spring term Monday, March 6th. The first on the calendar is a case of larceny, State of Wisconsin against William Hughes.

The case of J. I. Lamb company against E. F. Babcock has been given to a referee.

The case of Z. S. Rice against the Chicago and Northwestern railway company was settled out of court, the company paying Mr. Rice $500.

The Frederick case will interest people greatly.

Aldach alleges that Frederick extorted $35 from him to save the defendant from paying a hundred dollar fine in a liquor sale. Mr. Frederick claims he simply collected the money for the Kendall Dry League fund.

Flays Milwaukee

In his address here last night Mr. Frederick took occasion to pay his respects to Milwaukee and its politicians.

"Milwaukee is the place where they rob the House of Correction to get candidates for the state legislature and from whence they occasionally send a fool to congress," remarked the "fighting parson."

There are six divorce cases to be heard in the circuit court calendar. They are:

Gwendyth E. Steele vs. Nathan H. Steele; Jennie Eastman vs. Daniel Eastman; Eunice Ward vs. Ross Ward; Ida Hines vs. Ernest Hines; John Raabe vs. Hattie G. Raabe and Bertha Brandau vs. Adam Brandau.

Adam Brandau is the Kendall blacksmith who tried to hang himself. He was sent to Mendota, and a guardian was appointed. He was later sent home and the guardianship will be removed.

Gets Word of Death

Assistant Postmaster Frank L. French received a telegram this afternoon informing him of the death of his brother, Lewis French, at Watertown, South Dakota.

Singing Meeting

Monday is the date for the next "community singing" meeting. Everyone is invited to come and enjoy this informal good time. Singing will begin promptly at 7:30, lasting one hour. Rev. Cecil Clifford will lead the singing and there will be a special number of music for the opening of the evening's program. The meeting will be in the assembly room of the high school.

Office Busy

The city treasurer's office has been a busy place the past two days, people crowding in to pay their taxes before the raising of the rate to three per cent, which began on March 1st.

Local and Personal

Mr. Chaplin, government inspector or overseer of the construction of public buildings, who has been in Sparta the past year superintending the erection of the new postoffice, has completed his work here and will leave in the near future for Merrill, Wis., where a new federal postoffice is to be built.

Orville Arnold, clerk in the city post office, is on the major's staff in the National Guard and will go to Eau Claire Friday to take a staff officer's examination.

George Lange has returned home from a visit with friends in North La Crosse.

Mrs. L. T. Hill has been very ill at her home the past week.

Leo Falls, a former Spartan, now a photographer at Fargo, N. D., was in the city last week, visiting relatives and friends.

J. O. Paulson, spent Monday in La Crosse, transacting business and visiting friends.

TODAY'S ODDEST STORY

MILWAUKEE, March 2.—With the painting of Queen Victoria removed from its place of honor in the Auditorium and stored in the basement for the week, The Wisconsin Austro-German Aid society auction to raise funds for war sufferers opened here today with life size oils of Kaiser Wilhelm and Von Hindenberg standing about the articles to be auctioned include roundtrip North German Lloyd and Hamburg-American line tickets to Europe which cannot be used until after the war because the lines are not in operation, half a dozen small Wisconsin farms and thousand spring hats for women, made by Milwaukee German girls. One booth is a huge replica of the sunken sea raider Emden.

DALRYMPLE FOUND

CHICAGO, March 2.—Keith Edwin Dalrymple, sought for many years as the missing heir to a $400,000 estate at Port Allegheeny, Pa., has been located in an Iowa sanitarium, according to information reaching Chicago from Charles City, Iowa, where Dalrymple has relatives yesterday.

"Did You Ever See the Like? No Wonder 'Gets-It' is the Biggest Selling Corn Cure in the World!"

my toe, right there,—don't be afraid,—that's it,—feel how smooth the skin is? Well, that's where the corn was. Well, that beats all! That's the way "Gets-It" works on all corns, every corn, every time. It's the new, simple way of curing corns. You'll say good-bye to all foolish contraptions like bundling bandages, sticky tape, plasters, toe eating salves, and grave-diggers such as knives, razors and scissors. "Gets-It" stops pain. Applied in 2 seconds. Never fails. Nothing to stick to, hurt or press on the corn.

"Gets-It" is sold everywhere. 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

FOR BRONCHITIS, SEVERE COUGHS COLDS AND WHOOPING COUGH

Make the Best Medicine at Home—128 Teaspoonful for 50 Cents.

Money spent for the old style, ready-made medicine usually sold in bottles holding on 2 to 2 1/2 ounces (15 to 20 teaspoonfuls) is largely wasted, because most of them are composed principally of sugar and water. Yet you have to pay the same price as if it were all medicine. Stop wasting this money. You can make a better remedy for bronchial affections, at home at one-fifth the cost. Merely go to Geo. E. Mariner's Drug Store and ask for 2 ounces (50c worth) of Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectant, which they guarantee will give perfect satisfaction or money will be refunded. Mix this with one pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of boiling water, which makes a full pint (128 teaspoonfuls). This new, simple, pleasant remedy is guaranteed to relieve the worst cough or cold, Bronchial Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, Hoarseness and Whooping Cough. One bottle will make enough home-made medicine to probably supply the whole family. Children like it, it is so pleasant to take. It is unlike any other medicine, and positively contains no chloroform, opium, morphine or other narcotics, as do most cough mixtures. Keep it on hand in case of emergency and stop each cough before it gets a firm hold. The above druggist, in fact any druggist in this city, will return the money. (Just the same as is done with Schiffmann's famous Asthmador) in every single case where it does not give perfect satisfaction or is not found the best remedy ever used. Absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy—under this positive guarantee.

BURIED IN SAME GRAVE

MINNEAPOLIS, March 2.—Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Johnson were buried in the same grave here this afternoon. He was stricken with apoplexy and while she was rushed to aid him she fell downstairs.

Foreign Markets

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, March 2.—Price movements upward today reflected optimism among traders on the Stock exchange who have been nervous for several days because of the international situation.

United States Steel was up 1-2, selling at $13 3/8 at the opening. Crucible gained 3-4 at 73 3-4 and soon after trading began Industrial Alcohol jumped 4 1-2 points to 155.

Crucible later advanced to 74 1/4. Atchafson was up a point during the morning, but the rest of the railroad list was neglected. Distillers' securities advanced 2 1/4 to 46 3/4. Steel had dropped back to 80 1/2 at 11 o'clock.

The market remained inactive during the early afternoon. Union Pacific showed considerable strength and New York Central responded to some extent. General price changes were small.

The market closed dull and lower.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, March 2.—Wheat fluctuated today on bearish weather news which was counteracted by good support on an early dip. May ruled around $1.11 1-8 slightly below last night's close, and July around $1.08 5-8. Big buyers gave the shorts a brief scare shortly after the opening, but it was short-lived.

Corn had a weak start, but prices acted in sympathy with wheat. Both May and July sold at 74 1-8, quarter up from openings.

Moderate buying boosted oats 1-4c for both May and July, the former ruling around 43c and the latter around 41 1-8c.

Provisions were higher on the higher hog market.

Willard Tires Trainers-Moran Shovels Snow

Champion Ambles Through Central Park With Stable Puffing Behind; Frank Combats Snowfall

NEW YORK, March 2.—With nearly a month left in which to get ready, Jess Willard today slowed up in his training stunts, expecting to work gradually to the pinnacle of pinky-pinkness for his fight with Moran.

Willard chopped some of his indoor stunts, evoking loud roars from the two bit boys who paid to watch him, but added a thrill to the program by dropping Walter Monahan, his hefty sparring partner, with a chop on the jaw. After the indoor stunts were over the champion ambled through Central park with his trainers strung along behind blowing like a roundhouse full of mogs.

Tom Jones, Willard's chief manager, said the big boy had something wrong with his tummy, but it was not serious.

SARATOGA, N. Y., March 2.—Frank Moran today went snow shoveling, adding another training stunt in preparation for his fight with Willard. A heavy snow fell during the night. Moran, Lewis and the others in his company had to shovel themselves out of camp.

Moran will leave Saturday for Dal Hawkins' gym, Westchester, where he will put in three weeks of boxing.

PUT UP BIG BET FONDY SHOOTERS CAN'T BEAT THEM

JANESVILLE, Wis., March 2.—In answer to the open challenge of the Tomah and Company E team of Fond du Lac that they could defeat any basket ball five in the middle west for a $500 side bet, Manager Caldwell of the Janesville Cardinals has made an open offer to the Company E manager of a $1,000 side bet, winner to take all gate receipts. The Cardinals recently defeated the Company E team two games out of the three played.

Cashton Highs Play Seconds In Hixon Gym

Team Will Try to Regain Some of Honors Lost on the Gridiron to Horne's Warriors

Cashton high, who has twice been defeated by La Crosse second teams, both times at Cashton, now sends down a challenge in basket ball which Coach Puckett of the seconds has accepted. The game will be played in Hixon gym Friday afternoon after school, an admission of 10 cents to be charged to defray expenses. The game promises to be a real battle from the only source of comparison open. Early in the season the Juniors journeyed to Cashton and were defeated 36 to 12. Now two of the second year men are with the seconds. Therefore it looks like Cashton from a distance. But only from a distance, however, for the seconds are now going strong and on their own floor promise to run all around Cashton.

Yesterday in general assembly Coach Puckett of the Juniors presented Captain Hebbly Reget of the sophomores with an oaken shield for the championship. The shield will be added to that of last year's winning team hanging in Horne's office.

SPUTH SENDS MEN RIGHT ALONG FOR RIVAL FALLS MIX

Locals Must Take Saturday Mix to Have Clear Title to Northern Honors

Coach Spath of the normal school has had his men working at all times of the day this week in preparation for the River Falls game on Saturday night. The River Falls team is, without a doubt, La Crosse's closest contenders for the northern championship and, perhaps, for the state title, as the winner of the game on Saturday night will most probably represent the north. La Crosse has the advantage of having won at River Falls by two points and every member of the team is confident of coming out of Saturday's game victorious, inasmuch as this game is on their own floor.

It is not expected that the normal gym will prove large enough to hold the crowd for this week's game. Additional seating space will be provided down stairs, however, and everybody is assured an opportunity of getting a look at the stars.

KEEP URIC ACID OUT OF JOINTS

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Eat Less Meat and Take Salts.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry; avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water.

Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which helps overcome uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

A certified list of graduates will be made after the second five weeks.
